Headline:
Largely dry with sunny spells but fog patches overnight.

Today:
Mist and fog patches slowly lifting to give a generally dry day with sunny spells and cloudy periods. Fog may take until lunchtime to lift in parts of Devon and Somerset. Feeling warm in the afternoon sunshine and light winds. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Tonight:
Staying generally dry with partly cloudy skies. In the clearer parts of the region, patchy mist and fog will once again develop as winds fall light. Becoming quite chilly. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Thursday:
Patchy fog on Thursday morning, this slowly clearing to leave another dry day with sunny spells. Feeling relatively mild in any sunshine given light winds. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Feeling cooler on Friday with cloud and patchy rain at first, then sunnier later. Largely dry and bright on Saturday.
